OUR SALEM LETTER

Salem, March 26 1875.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

Phew! how the wind has blown and the rain descended this week and the remarkable perseverence with which it is keeping up its lick will undoubtedly credit March as the most rainy and blustering month of the year.

The State printing was finished to day, and the book binder is busily engaged in binding the same. The gentlemen typos have had a good long rest and will soon leave this city, where they have all become favorably acquainted, and we are inclined to think that they will be greatly missed, especially in certain quarters. They are a gentlemanly and jovial set and would be a valuable acquisition to any town. The most of the will go to San Francisco. This question of State Printing is one that will require very careful legislation and the printing for the last session is very large the journals of each house are large volumes while the laws and decisions of the supreme court make a volume of over 1 100 pages. But this is not the fault of the State.

A most terrible and fatal accident happened at Mr Gesh's, who lives on the outskirts of town. Mr and Mrs Gesh were at the barn milking, and had left their two small children in the house where there was an open fireplace. In a few minutes afterwards they heard loud screaming and on entering the house found the oldest little girl, about three and a half years old was wrapped in a sheet of flames. Mrs Gesh took up the child and put her in a barrell of water standing near by to extinguish the fire. Her body and arms were terribly burned, so much so that after a few hours of intense agony, death relieved her of her suffering.

The steamboats are now all well patronized in the freight line and as the river is in good boating stage, they are doing an active business.

To-night French's great five-act drama was performed at Reed's Opera House for the benefit of the Orphans' Home, one of our benevolent institutions.

Prof. T. M. Gatch President of the Willamette University who has been seriously ill for several weeks, we are sorry to learn is not recovering very rapidly. In fact his illness is a source of deep solicitude to his numerous friends.

Our merchants are now receiving their supplies of spring goods. The ladies are examining the love of bonnets.

The hoop skirt mania broke out with great violence in February but the March rains effectually squelched the annual epidemic for a time at least.

Hon. S. H. Chadwick is now busily engaged in his department, and has sent to all the counties the sheets for the taking of the State census for this year. Col. T. H. Cann, who has been ill for some time has returned from his trip to the Dalles and resumed his place among the maps and mortgages of State school swamp and other lands whereas the State is interested.

The late masquerade party having proved so successful and enjoyable, has induced Prof. I. M. Day to embark in a grand bal masque to come off at the Opera House on the evening of the first of next month. It will prove interesting to a great many who have never had an opportunity to attend any thing of that kind.

The Pioneer Association are having an exceedingly interesting pamphlet published at Mr. L. M. White's office, of about sixty pages, and will contain a great deal of information in regard to the early history of Oregon. Why will not all of the old pioneers contribute their mite to this association of the early incidents that they can call to mind, and thus rescue from oblivion matters that will be of great interest when the actors shall have passed away. It is a duty they owe to the oncoming generations. 17

The tender of Messrs. Lockhart Smith and Alex. Watson has been accepted for the construction at Esquimalt of the barge or lighters for the use of Her Majesty's ships.

The steamers Brewer and Grapp er which left the Inlet with the ship Britannia on Pugets Sound, had not reached port on the 25th. It is hoped that they are lying under the lee of some island.

The Reformed Episcopal Church at Victoria have accepted plans prepared by Mr. Teague for the new church edifice and for the Sunday school building. The latter will be given out to-day.

The crew of the ship Merchant lately arrived at Nanaimo from Arequipo have struck work, and one of them struck the mate for which he is in irons. The captain has complained to the police authorities, and the mutinous men were brought ashore.

The schooner Dart arrived at Victoria from the West coast while the gale was at its height. Her coming was watched with palpitating breasts by a great many persons, but she reached an anchorage in James Bay after having her deck swept and losing two boats.

Col. Powell has received dispatches from Ottawa concerning the gratification of the Indian Department at the steps taken by him to reward the Hesquiat Indians who succored the crew of the wrecked bark Eliza Ivers on the West coast of Vancouver Isl and last November.

In the House of Commons on the 9th of March Mr. Mackenzie in speaking of the railroad routes by which it was expected the Canadian Pacific Railway would reach the Columbian coast said that if the report of Mr. Hangreaves, who is now engaged in taking the levels in a portion of the country at the head of Nelson river a distance of 56 miles, is favorable the line of railroad through British Columbia would be at once located. This would carry the line from Yellowhead Pass down the Upper Fraser to Chilcotin and, Bute Inlet.

James Fick Takes it all Back.

San Francisco March 27—This afternoon there was filed in the recorder's office by Jas. Fick, a revocation of the deed of trust filed by him in July last. In the revocation he recites the trust deed states that such instrument was made hastily incomprehensively and under the effects of mental depression caused by failing health and by apprehension of speedy death. He was therefore induced to neglect making suitable provision for persons having natural claims upon him that the effect of said instrument is to postpone the realization of the objects in view that some of his purposes are imperfectly provided for and provisions respecting them are of doubtful legality that he wishes to make further provision for those having natural claims upon him and at the same time resettle the term of the bounty so as to avoid all questions of doubtful legality. He thanks his returning health will enable him to carry out his objects personally, and he therefore revokes and annuls said instrument and all powers etc conferred by the same upon the trustees ratifying and confirming whatever said trustees may heretofore have done in virtue of said instrument.

The McMahon Murder Case—The Prisoners Held to Answer.

Jacksonville, March 27—Bardon and Carey were brought before Judge Watson to-day. Both waived examination. Bardon was committed to answer the charge of murder, and Carey held on a charge of grand larceny. It is improbable that they will have their trial until the next regular term in June, as the grand jury has just been discharged. McMahon was buried here to-day. The funeral was largely attended. There is considerable excitement here. Some talk of lynching between the prisoners, but the general desire is that the law take its course.

Weather cold, cloudy and windy.

Great Hurricane at Victoria—Houses Unroofed—Walls Thrown Down—Damage to Shipping.

Victoria, March 25—An equinoctial hurricane swept over this city yesterday afternoon, doing vast damage to property. Many buildings were unroofed and blown down, trees were uprooted, the telegraph demolished, and ruin and devastation is visible on all quarters. Bark Stella had to cut away her masts to keep from drifting ashore in the harbor. The schooner Industry sank in the harbor with a cargo of coal. The schooner Alert lost her boats. As far as heard from no lives were lost. A man named Heathorn was struck on the back by a flying brick and severely bruised. Two gentlemen stood in front of the Victoria theatre factory, on Government street when a brick wall and veranda supported by iron pillars fell over them but both had a marvelous escape. The roof of a house in Langley street struck the telegraph wire and jerked it out of the instrument in the office on Fort street three blocks distant.

Victoria March 26.—Grave apprehensions were felt for the safety of the mail steamship Mohongo, from San Francisco which was exposed to the full fury of the gale on Wednesday. The Dominion steamer Sir James Douglas was just getting ready to proceed in search when the Mohongo hove in sight off Race Rock at 7 o'clock this morning. She is the worst looking steamer that ever entered this port. Her wheel house is stove in, her pilot house gone and all over are traces of the fearful time she had experienced. The gale struck her 100 miles southwest of Cape Flattery and just then the machinery stopped working, and Captain Thorn was knocked down and had to be carried down senseless. None of the passengers expected to reach shore again but through the skill and able management of the officers the Mohongo arrived safely in port.

FARMING ITEMS

Farmers over in Ochoco are busy plowing. The green grass is springing up on the south hillsides and everything looks cheering.

A meeting of the board of directors of the Western Washington Industrial Association is called at Olympia for Wednesday, April 14, at 4 o'clock P. M. Business of importance will come before the Association.

A grange of the Patrons of Husbandry was organized at Woodard's landing Pacific county, W. T. by Deputy S. S. Markham, on the 27th of February 1875. The following named persons were elected and installed as officers of the ensuing year: M. A. S. Bush, O. Job Bullard, L. A. A. Bush, S. A. L. Soule, A. S. F. Shay, C. W. W. Lilly, T. J. M. Louderback, S. Jacob, Dr. G. K. J. L. Smith, C. Mrs. A. S. Bush, P. Mrs. Van H. Wiecher, F. Mrs. J. M. Louderback, L. A. S. Mrs. A. E. Soule. The name of this grange is Willapa.

Whatcom county says the Olympia Farmer, the extreme northwestern portion of the Territory is the largest county west of the mountains and has the largest area of rich agricultural land of any county in Western Washington. Nineteen twentieths of the land susceptible of cultivation (which is all but the mountains) is timber land, the other twentieth consisting of tide flats and small patches of prairie scattered here and there throughout the timber. There is about half a million acres of agricultural land in this county of which not one tenth is yet owned or occupied. The timber consists of pine (in the mountains) fir, cedar, spruce, maple and alder. In some places the timber is very heavy, precluding the idea of clearing the land for farming in our day but in other places there is but little timber and the land can be easily cleared off.

The Mercury is responsible for the following. Every city and locality has its characters. Salem has its share. Amongst the decided characters in our midst is Uncle Babs a colored man who gains an honest living for himself and family by working at the trade of blacksmith. Uncle Babs is a conscientiously religious man in showing his faith by his work. Not long since this son of Vulcan was visited by one of those public nuisances, a life insurance agent. He importuned our conscientious friend to take out a life policy, but without much success. But being much characteristic of his business he seemed disposed to not take no for an answer. After two or three days importuning Uncle Babs, although tired of the agent's boring said to him "Look head, friend I is already insured. I is got a life policy and a paid up one at that in a better firm den de one you is de agent of and it's one dat insures again me too and de policy I got is good in de order world as well as dis de name ob de agent dat I is insured with is Jesus Christ." The insurance agent left that shop while Uncle Babs went on with his work whistling "All Hail the Power," &c.

THE TERRITORIES

The Port Discovery mills are now running on double time.

Shipping has been very lively on the lower Sound the past month.

More game is being shown in Clarke county this year than ever before.

Oysmans who were out late one night last week saw a fine lunar rainbow.

The Masonic fraternity of Port Townsend gave a very pleasant ball on the 18th inst. There were some fifty couples present.

Two South American vessels are living in the stream at Port Gamble discharging ballast preparatory to taking in large cargoes of lumber.

The steamer Etta while coming down the Sound with a very large boom of logs on Wednesday, completely demolishing the water company's tank.

A considerable lot of lumber has been picked up recently on the weather beach north of Cape Flattery supposed to have been lost overboard from a Puget Sound lumberman.

The prospects for the construction of the Utah Northern railroad to Idaho are very favorable. This contemplates an extension to Watson station which is on the route towards Montana and fifty miles from Ogden.

While the steamer Cyrus Walker on Puget Sound was towing three round booms of logs in the vicinity of Point no Point, on Monday of last week the wind came on to blow heavily completely destroying one of the booms.

The barks Dashing Wave, Headley, Atlanta and Bonita Vista sailed from Port Gamble during last week for San Francisco. The barkentine Lizzie sailed from Port Gamble for San Francisco on the 19th inst. and the ship Roswell Sprague on the 21st.

Seattle has now two coal companies in active operation shipping a large amount of coal constantly. The third company—the Talbot—will commence getting out coal in a few weeks. Together, the companies disburse about $25,000 monthly.

The proprietors of the Idaho World began distributing a trial weekly March 11th which they announce will hereafter be issued on Sundays, Wednesdays and Fridays; they also state that a weekly will be published every Friday twice the size of the old one.

The camp and surveying equipage of a railroad surveying party arrived at Tacoma on Monday last and the party to use it are only awaiting the clearing up of the storm to commence the line of road for the Puyallup Valley Railroad from Tacoma to the coal mines.

The captain of the bark Caroline, when at Port Townsend bound out, shipped a carpenter for the voyage, paying him $30 cash in advance. The same night the carpenter took himself and money off but was subsequently captured and put on board the bark to earn the money he tried to obtain by fraud.

The Transcript says: "Last Saturday the steamers Goliah and Mastick had a trial of their disputed towing qualities, in towing two large vessels from Port Townsend to Port Gamble, the Goliah bringing her ship into Gamble about two hours ahead of the Mastick. There was a heavy southeast wind blowing at the time, which put them both to their utmost exertions.

The schooner Annie Lysle, recently launched at Port Ludlow, is at present receiving her rigging and will soon be ready for her cargo. She is about 140 tons measurement, and is a very handsome craft. Within the last few days vessels built at that port within the past year. Another schooner about the same tonnage is at present on the stocks and will soon be ready for her native element.

With the beginning of next week the Tacoma sawmill, for an indefinite length of time will be run both night and day to the full extent of its capacity. This will add at least forty men to the town's producing population, and be a noticeable gain to our business and society. The increase of shipping visiting our port will be nearly double, and will be one of the most gratifying consequences of the change.

There is no branch of industry carried on in Whatcom county, aside from cultivating the soil, except a coal mine known as the Bellingham Bay Coal Mine and a stone quarry although there are many sources of wealth in that county lying dormant. The finest body of timber in Washington Territory is on the mountains in that county, much of which can be brought down the different streams, and yet there is no saw mill in the county, although there are several fine sites for steam mills and several first class water powers.

The Olympia Transcript of last Saturday says: "After most of the liquor cases in court this week had been decided it was ascertained that there was no United States law against selling liquor to Indians consequently all the indictments were quashed and those prisoners in jail will, we presume, be let loose. It seems the revised statutes of the United States make it no offense to sell to Indians, except in an Indian country and this is not considered as such. This law will quite reduce the business of some of the courts hereafter. We believe Judge J. G. Sparks has the honor of discovering this law."

A letter from Judge McFadden, dated Washington March 7th, informs the Tribune that he had secured before the adjournment of Congress an appropriation for the survey of the Puyallup river. To the people of that valley and of Tacoma this survey is an important matter. There is one insurmountable impediment to the navigation of that stream at the present time and that is the big jam between Vining's farm and the Indian reservation. With that removed stern wheel steamers like the Black Diamond and Chehalis could easily run up to the mouth of the Stuck, or even Van Ogle's place on the Puyallup respectively 12 and 15 miles from the mouth.

From a private letter to Mr. Gould Hubbard from Monroe, W. T. the Guard culls the following items: The snow is about all gone as well as nearly all the cattle. We have had a regular old swinger up here this winter, but are having the usual March weather now. Deer has been about 1,500 head of cattle died in this county this winter. I have lost about half of mine. I never saw stock suffer so much in my life as they have here this winter. Two gentlemen drove 100 head of cattle in last fall and have lost them all. Horses and sheep have died here, too. Cattle stopped at a sheep ranch about the middle of the storm, and the herder said he was losing about 20 every night. He had about 1,500 and I have learned since that he lost the remainder.

Speaking of the resources of Washington Territory the Transcript says: "We have a large scope of country as yet but little known, rich with natural resources for which our chief need is population. We say but little known because we have only just begun to realize what our Territory contains. The lumber trade has been and still is the greatest business but our coal trade is just beginning to loom up as one that will be of greater importance as the inexhaustible beds of coal which are opened and worked. Large tracts of agricultural lands with short distances of settlements and heretofore unknown are constantly being discovered where hundreds of settlers will eventually find homes.

The Advocate of March 27th says: "Besides demolishing an unfinished building in this city for Shively, Spalding & Co. blowing down a large structure used by J. M. Shively as a barn, removing Wm. Headington's new carpenter shop from its foundation and sundry smaller items the high winds of Tuesday night played havoc at Knappton. Two large iron smoke stacks belonging to the main mill were thrown down the front to the store building was blown out, and a new roof connecting the mill and lumber yard was blown down. All damages will be speedily repaired."

EQUINOCTIAL STORM

DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY—BUILDINGS UNROOFED AND BLOWN DOWN—VESSELS SUNK AND DISMASTED—RUIN AND DEVASTATION EVERYWHERE.

From the Victoria Colonist of the 25th and 26th inst. we collate the following account of the terrific storm which passed over the north western coast.

Yesterday 24th dawned brightly and calm by 7 the wind which had raged for several days from every point of the compass had died away during the preceding night and was replaced with light zephyrs from the south. The sun came out warmly and people as they met each other on the thoroughfares exchanged congratulations upon the prospect of fine weather ahead. A few invalids who had been closely confined during all the long and bitter winter ventured out of doors and their well known forms and faces—though shrunken and pinched by the keen suffering they had undergone—were accepted as a bright augury of a near at hand spring. These favorable indications continued until about 11 o'clock when the barometer quickly showed signs of falling and within an hour sank to 29.85 an exceptionally low stage. Soon great masses of wind laden clouds were observed to scurry across the sky, the bright sun and the poor invalids retired from observation and the wind veered to the southwest and gradually freshened until 2 o'clock, when it became what would be called a stiff blow. Gathering renewed vigor at 15 minutes to 3 o'clock it attained the proportions of a gale, and by 3 o'clock a fierce, relentless hurricane that shook the strongest buildings and caused the destruction of a vast amount of property, broke over the city and vicinity.

The mighty wind bore on its pinions heavy rain charged clouds, which torn into shreds reached the earth in great sheets of water that drenched the few persons who remained out of doors to the skin in a moment. The wind came in great long gusts, that roared and shrieked, and then swept on to continue their madcap career elsewhere to be followed in quick succession by other gusts equally strong and vicious. Soon the effects of the pitiless pelting upon buildings, fences, &c., became apparent. Among the first structures on Government street to succumb was the verandah in front of the old postoffice which came down with a crash crushing in part of the front of the next building, and creating a panic in the neighborhood. Next followed the roof of Carswell's block, on Fort street owned by Mr. Lowenberg which was rolled up like a scroll and deposited in the next lot, breaking the telegraph line and exposing a stock of valuable goods belonging to Oppenheimer Bros. to damage from the rain. Next the glass doors of the present custom house were driven in and the collector and his clerks driven out about the same time the lumber piled in Sayward's and Moody & Nelson's yard became mixed with motion and about 2,000 feet of it whirled in company with Old Horses.

In some places inch planks were caught up, whirled in the air and broken like pipe stems, and the lots for several blocks are covered with them. The schooner Industry, Captain Jones, which arrived the day before from Nanaimo, with a cargo of coal for Capt. Clarke's wasting at Rhodes wharf alongside the bark Clifton. The schooner sunk at her moorings at 10 o'clock Capt. Jones narrowly escaping with his life. The Clifton was chafed against the wharf, but sustained no damage. The Otter and other steamers escaped injury. About this time the sea rolled into and across the harbor in great waves and broke with a thundering roar upon the beach, threatening destruction of any small craft that might venture upon its bosom. The roof of the Occidental building and a part of the firewall were carried away at 4 o'clock, and a tremendous crash in the vicinity of the new postoffice revealed the fact that Heathorn's verandah and firewall had gone by the board, crushing in part of Nuttall's building. A chimney from Sehl's furniture warehouse next fell, crushing through and wrecking Clay & Harrison's. A man passing Heathorn's was struck on the back by a flying brick and severely but not dangerously bruised. Denny & Spencer's Rickman's and several other shop fronts on Government street were driven in. A large frame building on Langley street near the Colonist office was leveled with the ground. A white-ball boat lying on Davies wharf was carried clear across the slip to Broderick's wharf crushed and then sent overboard to bob helplessly up and down among frosty waves. An immense oak tree a last monument of the old forest yard and the very relic of a dense forest which once occupied the site of the city beneath the friendly shade of which the Hudson Bay Company's officials were wont to recline in the pristine days of the province was uprooted and broken into kindling wood. Near Rhodes & Co.'s warehouse on Store street a frame building had been occupied by a man who made quite a lucrative living by collecting sawdust, drying and selling it to saloon keepers for their floors. The wind seized this frame building in its arms, toyed with it a few minutes and then tore it into fragments. The impounded sawdust made its escape in a great cloud and was scattered in every direction. Persons walking up town and observing the dense cloud of sawdust approaching imagined that Walkem & Co. were engaged in their favorite game of throwing dust in people's eyes. The chimneys of Reid's block toppled over like ninepins and Muirhead & Mann's shop front was only saved by the timely application of strong braces.

The roof of the M. B. Co.'s tin shop was lifted off and deposited on Wharf street. The gable of the California Saloon was torn down and Waddington alley is filled with debris. But it is useless to attempt to describe in this issue all the damage inflicted in the city by this hurricane, of which no parallel has been known since 1846 when men and animals were carried off their feet and great trees were snapped like sticks of macaroni. Chimneys tences and brewalls are down everywhere but we are happy to say that no loss of life has resulted, so far as we can hear. We fear that the country has suffered great damage.

Mr. Tierney reports his new barn at Oakland farm, worth $400, a wreck, and farm fences are down in all directions. The timber has suffered severely.

From Esquimalt we hear of the destruction of Mr. S. Nesbit's building, valued at $1 000 which was occupied by Mr. Tugwell, and of damage to several other buildings. The bark Stella which went ashore in Esquimalt harbor on Sunday and was got off on Monday, rescued her anchors yesterday and the masts had to be cut away to save the ship. The steamship Wahongo was exposed to the full fury of the gale and did not arrive last night.

ADDITIONAL.

When Heathorn's front fell Messrs. Courtney and Pague were conversing together near it and were struck by the falling brick and slightly hurt. Mr. Chas. Hayward's new house on Fort street was knocked out of position. The Cathedral suffered the loss of two chimneys and a large window. The Reformed Episcopal church lost much plaster, and the synagogue is minus part of its roof. The damage done in town cannot be estimated at present.

From every side reports continued to come in yesterday of damage from the hurricane of Wednesday. Every one agrees that it was the most terrific and far reaching blow ever felt in this Province, although some Englishmen with a pardonable pride of country claim that it was but a zephyr compared to the gales that occasionally sweep along the west coast of the right little, tight little isle. Mr. Holm Irvine, C. E., came in from Goldstream yesterday. He reports the scene in the railway surveyors camp has one never to be forgotten. The party were encamped in a grove of trees 200 feet in height. The gale struck the camp at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and from that hour till 7 o'clock Bedlam seemed to have been let loose. The wind shrieked and raved through the grove tearing off branches and rooting trees, destroying tents and breaking up the camp the men flying into the road and fields for safety. It seems almost a miracle that no one was hurt. Along the Saanich road the gale raged with fruitful violence. A two horse buggy was nearly overturned, and the driver, when near Lily lake, witnessed the fall of six large trees at almost the same moment. The wind dark with tree tops twigs and branches and many narrow escapes from the fall of trees across the road are recorded.

In the suburbs the damage was very great. Among those who sustained damage in fences and orchards were Mr. Rhodes, Mr. Dupont, the Work estate, Mr. Nesbitt and Mr. Stables. At Government House lost a chimney. In some places young fruit trees were stripped of their branches as clean as if done with a knife. In others rows of trees were prostrated like wheat before a scythe. Mr. Burrough's barns at Twin Oak farm were blown to pieces. Saanich road is choked with trees. So is Sooke and Metchosin road. The steamer Otter towed the disabled bark Stella and the distressed ship Garza to safe anchorages in Esquimalt harbor. The two ships in the outer harbor put down two anchors each, and rode out the gale in safety. Capt. Christensen of the schooner Alert, which arrived during the gale, says it was the hardest blow he has ever experienced on the coast. The sunken schooner Industry will be raised in a few days. The cargo of coal is Mr. Spratt's.

EAST COAST.

The gale raged with great fury at Nanaimo and all along the east coast. At Cowichan and Salt Spring Island thousands of trees were felled and the roads are impassable. At Nanaimo a small house was overturned, but the occupants managed to get out without injury. It was feared that Mr. John Dalton, who lives on the Point, was drowned as he started from Nanaimo in a small boat a few minutes before the gale came on. The blow, which commenced here at 15 minutes to 3 o'clock, and subsided at 9 o'clock, reached Nanaimo shortly after 4 o'clock, and continued till nearly 6 o'clock. If we state its duration as two hours we shall be about correct.

SHIPPING SAFE—THE MAIL STEAMER.

With the exception of the damage already reported we hear of no disasters to shipping. The steamers Beaver and Grappler, having in tow the ship Blackadder, are reported lying closely in the snug harbor of Ganges, about half way between here and Nanaimo, where the bark Kamgwin is also lying. The steamer Emma and schooner Black Diamond are at Coal Bay.

OREGON.

Travel to Galice creek still continues.

The boom that holds the logs belonging to the South Salem sawmill broke last Friday morning, but the loss was slight.

The Marion county jail has no occupant at present. In spots well for the morals of a county of so many inhabitants.

The grand jury of Yamhill, reports the county jail unfit for the purposes for which it is used, and unsafe for the purpose of keeping criminals.

Several gentlemen of the Dalles went down to Chenoweth creek on Friday of last week and caught in a short time 220 trout with a hook and line.

Teamsters who arrived at Roseburg from Jacksonville, during the week were compelled to abandon the idea of freighting, and, leaving their wagons, returned on horseback.

On Tuesday evening of last week, James F. Robinson, High Priest of Eugene Chapter No. 10, was made the recipient of a handsome emblem from the members of that chapter.

Eggs are worth 30 cents a dozen at the Galice creek mines. Some one ought to start a poultry there. Roseburg's facilities for reaching the mines are equal to those of Jacksonville.

Sheriff Schutz arrested Theodore Mears yesterday morning at Pratt's, on Fifteen-mile creek, and brought him to town. The young man was indicted by the last grand jury for larceny.

Charles Eastabrooks, says the Lafayette Courier, who returned from Tillamook a few days since, reports about eight miles of snow on the coast mountains. Near the summit the snow is about ten feet deep.

The Lafayette Courier says: Quite a row occurred at this place last night in which knives were drawn, and probably would have been used had not the commanding figure of the sheriff appeared on the spot just in the right time.

The Eugene Guard of Saturday says: On Monday night an affair from Corvallis or Oakland took them to Harrisburg and took them below. It appears that they had been employed to set up a little side show. The man died during the night and they decamped with all his personal property.

The Astorian says: Emma Holden, a little daughter of E. C. Holden of the Astoria Restaurant was hurt severely while playing on some timbers at the ship yard on the 19th. A heavy spar fell upon her, hurting her head considerably, and bruising her limbs badly, but she is getting along very well.

The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING, MARCH 29, 1875.

THE INDEPENDENT PLATFORM ON MONOPOLIES.

The ring organ quotes a resolution passed by the Independent State Convention last year and asserts the OREGONIAN has gone back on the principle then announced. The resolution is as follows:

SEC. 15. That the uprising of the agricultural classes, and their organization into a compact society for mutual protection against the extortions of oppressive monopolies, commends itself to the favor of every just mind, and cannot but result in ultimate good to the people.

That resolution is just exactly right. The OREGONIAN endorsed it then and still endorses it in theory and in practice. And the OREGONIAN is proud of the part it has had in breaking down oppressive monopolies in Oregon. To the enterprise and public spirit of the men who put the opposition line of boats on the river, and to the intelligent farmers and shippers who have stood faithfully by that enterprise, belong the great credit of breaking down the oppressive monopoly that made farmers pay double what they now pay to get their grain carried to the point of shipment; but we feel justified in saying the OREGONIAN did as much to arouse public sentiment to the importance of sustaining the opposition and breaking the monopoly, as any other journal in the State. The Bulletin, running as the organ of the oppressive monopoly, did all it could to choke the opposition line in its infancy, but failed, and then there was the famous peanut, candy and newspaper monopoly which the OREGONIAN opposed. It has gone to the wall too. Lest some of our readers may not understand what monopoly is here alluded to, we shall explain briefly. For a year or two the east side railway company gave the Bulletin publishing company—the stock in which belongs to the President of the railway company—the exclusive right to sell papers on the trains, and also the exclusive right to sell peanuts and candy!! The object, so far as newspapers were concerned, was to break down the OREGONIAN. The candy and peanut part of the story is so ridiculous some of our readers may doubt it, but we assure them it is the truth, and was proved in Court in a case against one of the salesmen for embezzlement. When you bought a bit's worth of peanuts, candy, grapes or pears from the train boy you were simply dealing with a Bulletin salesman. Well, the collapse of the owner of the Bulletin placed the road to a great extent in the hands of Mr. Koehler, the agent of the German bondholders, who to all appearances is a gentleman, and the Bulletin's monopoly soon fell.

We have always opposed every form of oppressive monopoly, and we shall continue to do so. We have always had the Bulletin to fight in our opposition to monopolies, and we expect to have it still. But we are right, and we mean to fight it out on that line if it takes all summer.

The ring organ, however, gives us too much credit in connection with that resolution, when it says we were chairman of the committee by whom the resolution was reported. That honor was not ours. We were on the committee, but not its chairman. We make this correction because we do not wish to receive credit that belongs to another.

WILSON, BLAINE AND MORTON.

The Chicago special which gives the result of interviews with Blaine, Wilson and Morton, shows these men are all in earnest in their political course. The Vice President sensibly declares the pensioning of such an army of ex-congressmen who have failed of re-election, as has been done just now, is a bad thing and unfortunate for the Republican party, and that the salvation of the party in the future depends on the throwing overboard now of its corrupt officials.

Blaine, clear-sighted as an eagle, is not afraid to trust the people to approve his course in opposing the radical measures proposed for the government of the South. He believes it is not well for the present managers of the Republican party to drive from it that class of Republicans who are such from principle and who founded the party. That is well put. The party discipline that has done that has brought the party to its present sorry plight, and nothing short of a complete abandonment of that unrepublican discipline will save the organization from utter annihilation.

Morton is gloomy. He was the leader in the movement to reduce the Southern States again to military governments, and the failure of his efforts leaves him despondent. He believes the Southern people are contemplating another rebellion, and doubts whether the people of the North would again have the patriotism to make the sacrifices necessary to suppress it. Senator Morton, perhaps, has so thoroughly argued himself into this morbid view of affairs that he cannot weigh evidence with correctness. To a mind unbiassed by the disappointments of a political struggle, there appears no reason for such apprehensions. There is not the slightest evidence that the people of the South contemplate another attempt on the Government, or that any considerable proportion of them have any sympathy whatever with the exhibitions of lawlessness that have been occurring there. In fact, there is little more of that sort of thing there now than there has been for a generation anyhow. Cutting and shooting was always a more common pastime with the Southern ruffian than with the Northern.

Nor is there any ground to fear that the patriotism of the country would not be again equal to the task of saving the Union. Let the standard of rebellion be once raised, and the loyal people would spring to arms with an alacrity equal to that with which they rushed to the defense of the country in 1861. There would be no longer any question of Republican, and Democrat and Independent, but all would unite in the paramount duty of saving the Union, which is dearer for the sacrifices it has cost.

Philadelphia wants to borrow a million of dollars in the name of the city, to be spent on the centennial celebration.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

A friend inquires, "Who and what is the 'Associated Press' of which we hear so much of late?" The Associated Press is the name of a number of publishers of newspapers who have associated together for collecting news from all parts of the world. All the papers in the association have to pay their proportion of the expense of collecting the news, and then each bears its own telegraph bills, or, in some instances, two or three papers located conveniently to the same telegraph office pay jointly, each being furnished with a copy of the dispatches. The operations of the association are, of course, very extensive, as important events happening in any part of the world must be promptly reported to make the enterprise successful. It is needless to state that the interests of the association require that its news should be as accurate as it can be made. The nature of the business of collecting news is such that it cannot be exclusive. The reporting of an event by one reporter does not prevent another reporter of the same event from reporting in some other interest. So the Associated Press, if they wished to do otherwise, are compelled to make correct and truthful reports by the certainty of exposure in case they should make false ones.

There is another association similar in form and purpose, called the "American Press Association." It has branches throughout the East and on this coast. It is generally conceded that its work is not so thoroughly done as that of the "Associated Press."

Both these associations, of course, own the dispatches they collect as completely as the OREGONIAN owns any item of news it procures through its own reporters—the report of a convention, or railway meeting, for example. The same event is open to be reported by anybody else, but no one else has a right to claim the benefit of the "Associated Press" report, or the report procured by the "American Press Association," without paying for it. Both these associations sell dispatches to many papers not originally belonging to them, and that as rightfully as a man may sell the horse he has raised or the plow he has made. That is all there is of the news associations. Any one can understand them, and no reasonable person will object to them.

The outrages upon our Texan frontier, the particulars of which appear in the telegraphic news, surpass anything of the kind heretofore reported. It is time steps were taking to put a stop to this thing. The keeping up of a mixed commission to determine the satisfaction to be paid in money by the two governments respectively to indemnify citizens against these border raids, is well enough, but it does not stop the lawlessness. The demand for the future should be, not merely that damages done by these raiders be repaid, but that raiding be stopped. There is doubtless cause for complaint on both sides, as both sides make similar charges. That now reported is a piece of brigandage that ought to wake up the government to the necessity of abandoning the temporizing, money-compensation policy.

On the 22d instant the Senate, after so modifying Frelinghuysen's resolution on the Louisiana matter as to make it apply to only so much of the proceedings as were taken to sustain the de facto government and repress domestic violence, passed it by a vote of 33 to 23. The resolution as adopted reads:

Resolved, That the action of the President in protecting the government in Louisiana, of which W. P. Kellogg is executive, and the people of that State against domestic violence, and in enforcing the laws of the United States in that State, is approved.

This resolution, if not an implied disapproval of the act mainly complained of, is drawn with manifest caution, so as not to be construed as an approval of that act.

In a speech delivered at Hartford, March 12th, Gen. Hawley said he had voted against the Force bill because he deemed the existing laws sufficient for the government of the South. He also alluded to the third term scheme and said he was opposed to it on general principles.

Things are evidently out of joint in the weather clerk's office this winter. It has been a continuous succession of surprises ever since the winter began, and not the least of these is the terrific hurricane at Victoria. One would almost as soon expect a typhoon at Portland as at Victoria. Such a thing was never heard of before. But by the details given in our dispatches this morning, it appears the storm was such a one as they would not be ashamed of in the Atlantic States.

We are in receipt of the first number of the Philadelphia Times, Col. McClure's new paper which succeeds the Age, which Col. McClure bought out. The Times is thoroughly independent, but temperate and careful. It presents an excellent appearance, and in all its departments it has the marks of able and experienced hands. Its managers are fully aware that the first requisite of success is that their journal shall be a newspaper.

The McMahon murder case at Jacksonville has taken a singular turn, according to the telegram published elsewhere in this paper. Two men join in murdering McMahon and driving off his flock of sheep. One of them divulges and points out the place where the dead body is concealed. They are arrested, and the one who divulged the crime is bound over for grand larceny—sheep stealing—while the other is held for murder.

And now, after receiving all the splendid puffs and praises for his munificence and philanthropy, Mr. James Lick, of San Francisco, revokes the famous settlement of his property, and says he will carry out his generous plans under his own supervision and in his own good time. That is an unexpected lick on the beneficiaries of his generosity.

The Republican State convention of Pennsylvania will meet at Lancaster, May 25, and the Democratic State convention at Erie, Sept. 8. The Republicans evidently think there is some advantage in having their candidates well canvassed, from the length of time they give for that purpose.

Rhode Island will have a general election on Wednesday, April 7th, for a full set of State officers from governor down.

CITY [illegible]

FOUNDATIONLESS RUMORS.—A painful rumor was current in the city on Friday, to the effect that the little propeller Ruby, plying on Puget Sound between Tacoma and other ports, had gone down during a heavy gale, and that all the passengers, of whom quite a number were on board, and crew had perished. The report reached the city in the form of a dispatch from Tacoma, and as the line was soon after prostrated, nothing further—either confirmatory or confirmatory of the painful intelligence could be obtained. It was stated that the members of the Phelps Dramatic Company were among the passengers on board the ill-fated craft. As might reasonably be expected, the news startled the community and filled the minds of all with painful solicitude. However, on Saturday, the line began to work, and soon after the welcome news flashed over the wires that the report was without the least foundation, and that the Ruby had passed safely through the perilous storm, reaching her destination without the loss of a single soul. Almost immediately following the contradiction of this report came another rumor to the effect that the steamer Idaho, which had sailed from this port for San Francisco, last Monday, had gone down at sea, carrying passengers and all to the bottom. This report created much excitement and anxiety in business circles, and among those who had friends on board. But these idle rumors were all dispelled yesterday by the welcome intelligence over the lines that the Idaho had arrived in perfect safety at her wharf, in San Francisco, 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. Two reported marine disasters—two good scares, and nobody hurt.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.—The following is the first section of the bill introduced into the Ottawa Parliament for the incorporation of a new Canadian Pacific railway company by Mr. Dewdney, which we find in the Victoria Colonist of March 20th: Whereas the construction of a line of railway through British territory, from Red river, in the Province of Manitoba, to a point in British Columbia, on the Pacific Ocean, would be a work of great importance to the interest of the Dominion; and whereas, the persons hereinafter named have formed themselves into an association for the purpose of constructing the said line of railway, and have prayed to be incorporated as a company, and to be invested with the powers necessary for the purpose, and it is expedient to grant the prayer of their petition; therefore, her Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and House of Commons of Canada, enacts as follows: Charles L. Edwin Russell, I. W. Powell, Henry Fairfax Bowyer Bwyer, M. T. Johnston, Henry Thielsen, J. H. Brodie, J. A. Raymur, Donald Macleay, F. J. Barnard, R. P. Rithet, Bernard Goldsmith, Thos. A. Bulkley, John Trutch, J. D. Pemberton, Wm. Meyer, J. A. Mara and W. C. Ward, with all such other persons and corporations as shall become shareholders in the company hereby incorporated, shall be and are hereby constituted and declared to be a body corporate and politic by the name of the "Canadian Pacific Railway Company."

HEAVY RAIN.—Since the heavy rain and wind storm which has passed over the country north and south, it has been impossible to keep the lines up and in working condition. For a short time the line north was working through to Victoria, but the severity of the gale soon prostrated it again. The regular repairer found that with all the possible diligence he could exercise he could not keep the line in order, for while he was putting it up in one place the storm would prostrate it somewhere else. He was therefore compelled to hire several assistants. Yesterday morning at an early hour the line was down between Portland and Vancouver, a repairer was sent out, and it was hoped that communication would soon be restored, but with what success we have not yet learned. South ward the lines have fared but little better. Both lines—railroad and the W. U. Tel. Co.'s—were prostrated beyond Eugene City, and likewise a short distance above Cheney. At the last mentioned point the poles were washed away. Mr. Crouch, the repairer, went up yesterday morning to repair the poles and make the necessary connection. The storm has been the occasion of much trouble and expense to the company, and it will be a source of gratification to know that the disturbed elements have about exhausted their forces.

CASE OF CHAS. SYKES.—Last Saturday morning the case of State vs. Chas. Sykes was called in police court for trial. This, as it will be remembered, was arrested early in the week on a charge of assaulting another boy named Ollie Mills, during a juvenile melee at the corner of Taylor and Fifth streets. Sykes dealt Mills a powerful blow above the temple with a heavy piece of wood, inflicting what was at first supposed to be fatal injuries. The lad was arrested on the charge of committing a dangerous assault and held to await the result of young Mills' injuries. Subsequently Sykes furnished the required bonds and was released. As nearly all the witnesses in the case were small boys attending the Public school, and could not conveniently be present during the week, the case was postponed until Saturday morning. When the case was called by common consent the charge of committing a dangerous assault was withdrawn, and that of assault and battery substituted. To this charge young Sykes entered a plea of guilty whereupon the court fined him $20 and costs. The fine and costs were paid and the defendant discharged. It is to be hoped that the results of this row between the white and colored boys of the city will exert a salutary lesson and prevent the recurrence of similar difficulties in the future.

GRAND BAZAR.—Commencing on Monday evening, April 5th, and continuing through three successive evenings, will be the grand bazar, to be given under the auspices of the German Aid Society. This will probably be one of the largest and most successfully conducted affairs of the kind which has ever been given in Portland. The object of the bazar is most praiseworthy as the proceeds are to be donated to

W. Powell, Henry Failing Ebenezer Brown M. T. Johnston, Henry Theisen J H. Brodie, J A. Raynur, Donald Mcleay P J Barnard R. P Bathet Bernard Gladsmuth, Thos. A. Balkley John Trutch, J D Pemberton, Wm Meyer J A Mara and W C Ward with all such other persons and corporations as shall become shareholders in the company hereby incorporated, shall be and are hereby constituted and declared to be a body corporate and politic by the name of the "Canadian Pacific Railway Company"

LIGHT DAYS —Since the heavy rain and wind storm which has passed over the country north and south, it has been found impossible to keep the lines up and in working condition. The fine and costs were paid and the defendant discharged It is to be hoped that the results of this row between the white and colored boys of the city will exert a salutary lesson and prevent the recurrence of similar difficulties in the future.

GRAND BAZAR.—Commencing on Monday evening April 5th, and continuing through three successive evenings, will be the grand bazar to be given under the auspices of the German Aid Society. This will probably be one of the largest and most successfully conducted affairs of the kind which has ever been given in Portland. The object of the bazar is most praiseworthy, as the proceeds are to be donated to the German Hospital fund No pains or expense has been, or will be spared by the committees in the completion of all the necessary arrangements The skating rink has been secured as the place in which the Bazar will be held and on account of its capacious dimensions will be ample to accommodate the hundreds who will doubtless visit the building during the continuance of the Bazar, On Monday Tuesday and Thursday evenings, an instrumental concert will be given by the Portland Band and on Wednesday evening a grand concert by the Aurora Band consisting of 22 pieces Thursday evening has been designated as the time when the prizes will be drawn On Monday evening April 12 a grand ball at the rink will conclude the event

WASHED AWAY —Intelligence reached here very early yesterday morning that a portion of the railroad at Canemah had been washed away During Saturday night the river raised several feet in consequence of the heavy and protracted rainstorms of the past few days and overflowed a portion of the track at a point where it winds along at the base of the bluff The current washed away the stone wall for the distance of about 50 yards on which rest the ties and rails Mr Brandt the superintendent of the road, on learning the condition of the track, immediately started up the road with a large force of men Yesterday afternoon Mr Brandt returned to the city, leaving the force at Canemah to repair the breach Fortunately there were no trains yesterday so no delay occurred By this morning the track will be in good condition for the several trains which will have to pass

SHOT BY ACCIDENT —From the Vancouver Register we learn that Mr J H Clark of Salem, started out hunting recently holding a double-barreled shotgun by the muzzle on his right shoulder While walking along the railroad track a short distance below town he slipped and fell the cock of the gun striking a tie with great force exploded the cap and sent the contents of one barrel through Mr Clark's right forearm shattering the bone in such a manner that amputation became necessary This operation was performed by Dr Whitehouse and the patient is doing as well as could be expected As Mr Clark depended upon the labor of his hands for the support of his family, his misfortune is as serious as any he could have well met with

No article of dress requires as much attention as the collar The Warwick collar is the one you should wear

A THIEF —An old Celestial was observed on Saturday hanging in a suspicious manner about the W. R. T. Co.'s wharf. Presently he was observed to pick something up and conceal it under his coat and walk hastily away Pursuit was given and the Chinaman overhauled Search of his person disclosed the fact that he had purloined a small box of raisins He was escorted to jail and provided with lodgings free and this morning will be required to answer the charge of larceny

STILL LOADING —The barge Columbia is still receiving railroad iron from the hip Anaconda a chartered mid-stream The barge has taken on board nearly as much iron as she can conveniently carry Yesterday the steamer Oneonta came alongside the ship and took on board 50 tons of the iron As the barge has about completed her cargo, and considerable iron still remains in the ship the Oneonta will carry away every day about 50 tons until the load is discharged

A CON STORY —Last Tuesday while passing around his premises a Prineville farmer discovered the carcasses of two cows, their horns being interlocked and their bones bleaching in the sun The supposition is that they were fighting and their horns becoming entangled they were unable to obtain water or food and thus perished in the spot without the knowledge of the owner It is a peculiar case but its truthfulness is vouched for

A VICIOUS BRUTE —We are informed that a certain man in this city is the owner of a canis which has caused more bruises and sore noses lately by its repeated attacks on different persons than is necessary for its existence The brute attacked a young man last Thursday and bit him so severely as to compel his remaining in doors ever since If such is the case the owner should be compelled to keep it secured with a chain

A NARROW ESCAPE —On last Thursday, when the Columbia River was in a stormy condition two fishermen—Frank Jones and Toney Rosamond—were capsized in a boat near Eagle Cliff, and but for the assistance of a man who saw the accident and hurried to the spot in a small boat, they would have been drowned They were in the water almost an hour employing great skill in keeping on top of the capsized boat

ACCIDENT —One of the Academy pupils a boy of ten years had an eye badly injured by being struck with a bat in the hands of a playmate, a few days ago. He was catching he had the batsman, and approaching too near received a severe blow which may result in the permanent impairing of his vision This is base ball accident number one, more expected as soon as pleasant weather arrives

NEEDY DISTRICTS —We are informed that a German family arrived here on the last steamer, and are living now in the southern part of the city in a condition of almost utter want and indigence They have received some assistance from kind neighbors which is duly appreciated The relief societies, we understand will inquire at once into their condition and afford requisite assistance

NEW BOILER —Since the boiler used on board the brisk little steamer Oncatta was burst, and rendered totally unfit for service, a contract for the building of a new one has been let to the Willamet Iron Works, The papers have all been signed between the contracting parties, and work will commence at once and the boiler and fire box finished in the course of a few weeks

CROSSED THE BAR —On Thursday the winds abating their violence and a favorable opportunity presenting itself, the ship Lennox Castle crossed the bar in safety, and dropped anchor opposite Astoria Since that time two other vessels schooner Dreadnought and bark Rival from San Francisco, with full cargoes have crossed the bar These vessels will arrive at this port in a few days

FIRST BOAT —On Saturday of the present week the O S N Co will dispatch their first boat this season for Wallula. Passengers who desire to make the through connection from Portland will be required to take the Dalles boat on Friday morning We publish this notice so that passengers can make their arrangements to suit

TWO SNAPPERS —A couple of three-card monte men boarded the train going south at East Portland, Friday morning, and on their way up fleeced a farmer out of $30 The conductor heard of it and speedily ejected them from the cars. It was with all grace they stepped out at Canemah, but the conductor was firm and they were forced to leave for other quarters

A VIOLENT FIT —A man whose name we did not learn, was seized with a sudden and violent fit of nervousness Tuesday forenoon, and was unable to stand upon his feet It was some length of time before he got over it but proper medical treatment revived him and at last accounts he was able to sit up and converse with friends

RECEPTION TO REV M. D. UTTER.—The ladies of the Unitarian church tender a reception to Rev Mr Utter and wife who are to depart to morrow for Olympia and the Sound. It will take place at the church, and the friends of the society and public are invited

AMUSEMENTS.

THEATER.—New Market Theater was well filled on Saturday evening by a fashionable audience Two pieces were presented during the evening—a dramatization of Dickens' Dombey and Son, and the roaring farce of Irish Doctor Mr Herne appeared in the former piece as Capt. Cuttle a character he sustained throughout admirably The remainder of the cast was judiciously distributed among the company and the various characters assigned were personated with dramatic tact, and in good taste The piece was elegantly mounted, correctly represented, and with the accessories of fine scenery and excellent music, gave entire satisfaction to the audience During the interlude Miss Rillie Deaves favored the audience with the Silver Clog which was received with immense applause In the concluding farce, Mr Herne appeared as 'Paddy Miles,' and Mrs Osborn Miss Ada Deaves and Messrs White Cleaves and Osborn in the other characters of the piece It was a capital farce, fairly convulsing the audience with laughter and sending everybody home with a broad grin This evening will be presented for the first time in Portland, the beautiful drama of 'Lighthouse Cliff' This drama is entirely new and original and was written expressly for Mr Herne by the late Frank Murdock Concluding the evening's entertainment will be the petite comedy of 'Clockmakers Hat,' in which will appear Miss Rillie Deaves as Sallie Smart Other brilliant and sensational pieces are in course of preparation and will be shortly produced

FEMININE STRATEGY.

HOW A DANDURY WIFE SUPPLIED HERSELF WITH KINDLING WOOD.

Ladies who have husbands who are neglectful in supplying them with kindlings should carefully study the experience of a Division street sister. All her married life she has had an unbroken struggle with her husband to keep herself supplied with wood, and the greater part of the time she has been obliged to depend upon her own deftness with the ax and any one who has seen a woman handle an ax, knows what a dreadful thing it is. Two months ago she begged of him not to go away without leaving her some kindlings. He said he wouldn't. But he finally did. Then she hit upon a plan. She had four dozen clothespins. She took one dozen of them for starting the fire, and found they worked admirably. The next day she used another dozen, and so she continued until the four dozen were gone. Then she went to the store and purchased another four dozen—having them "put in the bill." When they were gone she repeated the errand. She said no more to him about kindlings. For ten years she had kept up the battle, and now she was tired and sick at heart. He could go his own way and she would go hers—patiently, uncomplainingly—until the end would come.

On Monday he signified at the store that he would like to settle his account. The bill was made out and handed him. He glanced down the items. As he advanced along the column his face began to work. First his eyes slowly enlarged, then his mouth gradually opened, caused by the drooping of his lower jaw; and wrinkles formed on his forehead. One third down the column he formed his lips as if to whistle. Half way down he said:

"Gra-cious!"

A little less he said:

"Thunder!"

Four more lines were taken in, and he spoke again:

"By the jumping Jupiter!"

Then he read on, smiting his thigh vigorously, and giving vent to various expressions of the liveliest nature. Finally he threw the bill down.

"I say, Benson, look here; this bill can't be mine. You've got me mixed up with some laundry."

"That's your bill, sir," said the grocer, smiling pleasantly.

"I tell you it can't be," persisted the Division street man, beginning to look scared. "Why, here's fifty-five dozen clothespins in a two month's bill. What on earth do you take me for—a four-story laundry?"

"But it is your bill. Your wife can explain it to you. She ordered the pins."

"My wife," gasped the unfortunate man.

"Yes, sir."

The debtor clutched the bill, jammed it into his pocket, and hurried straight home. He bolted into the house without any abatement of speed, and flinging the paper on the table before his wife, knocked his hat on the back of his head, and said:

"Martha Ann Johnson, what does this mean? There are fifty-five dozen clothespins in Benson's bill for the past two months, and he says you ordered every blessed one of them."

"And so I did," said she, demurely.

"And so I did—Fifty-five dozen clothespins in two months!" and he shot down into a chair as if a freight car had fallen atop of him. "Fifty-five dozen clothespins in two months!" he howled. "Willis just heaven stand that?"

"I tell you, you needn't stare at me in that way, Reuben Wheeler Johnson, nor go calling onto heaven with your impiousness. I ordered them clothespins myself, and I have burnt every one of 'em in that there stove, just because you were too afraid lazy to get a stick of wood. And I declare, before I'll be bothered jawing and fighting to get you to cut wood, I'll burn every clothespin in the land, and you shall pay for them, if you have to sell the shirt on your back to do it. So, now!"

And Mrs. Johnson, with a face like scarlet, snatched up the broom, and went to sweeping the carpet as if every flake of dust was a red-hot coal, while the unhappy Mr. Johnson hastened to the store and paid the bill. And before dark that night he had a half cord of wood sawed, split and piled up ready for use.—Danbury News.

A PLOT FOR A PLAYWRIGHT.

We remember a tradition of the Mac-a-Cheek Valley that would be well to commence with. After the fight, and destruction of the Indian towns in that locality, one of the volunteers, wandering in the woods, saw the head of an Indian peering at him from behind a rock, and without a whereas or any length and a resolution, quite as brief, brought his gun to his shoulder and fired a shot that tumbled over the inquisitive aboriginal. To the hunter's horror he found the victim to be the female sex, with a papoose strapped on her back. He removed the babe, and he and his companion buried the mother. He carried the infant over a hundred miles to his log cabin, on the banks of the Ohio, and adopted the boy. He grew to manhood; a shy, wild fellow, with no tastes for civilized pursuits, and a love for the woods.

The situation was not pleasant, for the youthful Lo was expected to work for his living, and the labor was of the hardest. To make matters worse, he had the misfortune to fall in love with his patron's daughter, a beautiful girl with no end of suitors, and as an Indian in those days was regarded as a little better than a negro now, his love-making did not prosper. Her love was soon plighted to another, and on the wedding day drew near the young Indian disappeared. The marriage came off with the usual rough merry-making, that consisted of rifle-shooting races and wrestling during the day, and dancing and drinking at night.

The married couple had retired to the bridal chamber, that made one end of the double log cabin, and the merry-making continued all night. The next morning the two so lately united for life were called to breakfast. They did not respond for the very good reason that both were dead, being found murdered in their bridal couch.

All knew who the avenger was; but to leave no doubt upon that head a wampum belt, worked by the poor girl years before, was found upon the floor at her feet. But he was never heard of after. He seemed to vanish into night and memory. The poor father, recognizing the hand of retribution, took to drink, and was returned to Congress. He is remembered as a member of the Committee of Ways and Means, and accumulated quite a property out of subsidies and Indian contracts. He is spoken of to this day by an aged, red-nosed life-insurance agent as that "bloody old Brown, who was a Jackson man with a bad breath and a worse temper."—Boston Capital.

Beerbohm's London and Liverpool wheat telegram of March 19th quotes floating cargoes firm; cargoes on passage, do; California off coast, 45s 6d 45s 9d; do on passage, 44s 6d@45s; Liverpool, strong; California club, 9s 7d@9s 10d; do average, 9s 3d@9s 7d; red Western spring, 8s 6d@8s 9d. No later telegrams than those given yesterday, and 2d ex warehouse, have been received here.

The heavy rains which have prevailed to-day have of course checked the activity which might otherwise prevailed in business circles; but still the volume of transactions has by no means been inconsiderable, and the prospects for a full season's business have at no time since the year began been better than now. A somewhat increasing demand for monetary accommodations is observable, but the inquiry is readily met on the usual terms. The number of enterprises which are under contemplation in our State this spring, are not commensurate with our resources in an industrial point of view, but the indications of a gradual, though slow growth, are more plentiful than usual. A wider range is also, in many places, being taken by the people, and the much talked of system of "diversification of industries" is being acted upon. Money, in general circulation, is not as abundant as might be desirable, but loanable funds are in ample supply at rates lower than have been the rule on this coast heretofore. Though there may be found "croakers" and "prophets of evil" here as well as elsewhere, we think the prospects for an important forward step in the growth and prosperity of Oregon this year, are by no means discouraging.

The produce market to-day exhibits but few changes, the receipts by boat being somewhat increased by the continued heavy rains raising the Wallamet. Wheat is arriving in larger quantities, but is mostly purchased prior to arrival, and quotations here are not changed. Oats are also offering a little more freely, and the demand is slackening, most buyers handling carefully at 45@46 cents per bushel. Bacon and other provisions, excepting nothing but dairy products, are all in full supply at low figures. Shipments, both to San Francisco and ports to the north, are of average volume. Quotations are nearly as at last report.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—There seems to be a firm feeling in the market in this cereal, and the offers made at $1 37½ per cental are freely taken, while that held at $1 40 is looked upon as entirely nominal. Up to date the sales of two or three cargoes from this port, between 60 and 90 days out. The cargo of the iron ship Glenzia at 42s 6d, and that of the wooden bark Asterman at 42s 6d per quarter, net. Both cargoes were sold in Liverpool, to arrive at buyers' risk. It is rumored to-day that another cargo of what vessel is not stated, has been placed at 42s 6d.

FLOUR—There is no change in quotations. Shipments to San Francisco and to ports to the north are still large. We quote at $4 25@4 60 ₱ barrel for jobbing lots of standard and superfine grades, and country brands, and $3 50@3 75 for superfine.

OATS—There seems to be a weaker tendency in the market, and good to choice lots are offering at rather lower than 45c@c ₱ bushel. We notice sales of 4,000 bushels at the latter figure.

BARLEY—The demand is fair for local consumption, but receipts very light. Quotable nominally at $1 25 ₱ hundred lbs for good feed and $1 35@1 40 for choice brewing.

MILL FEED—Owing to the fact that a number of country mills have suspended work, this article has become scarce and bran is entirely out of the market and nominally quotable at an advance of $1 per ton; other descriptions firm but unchanged.

HAY—Is still in moderate request at $10@11 per ton for timothy, with a decline in the receipts. Wild hay finds slow sale at $7@7 50.

POTATOES—There is a fair demand for good lots for shipment at 70@75c per bushel, the range of quotations being 60@75c.

ONIONS—The demand is rather duller again, and $1 50 is now given as buyers' figures.

APPLES RIPE—Receipts, though decreasing in quantity, are larger than was anticipated at the time of the freeze. Quotations are now 75c@$1 per box, according to qualities, assorted and neatly packed for shipment.

APPLES DRIED—The trade is inactive, but prices are nominally steady at 6c@8c in sacks, and 6c in kegs.

BACON—Shipments are being made of the surplus in this market to San Francisco, where prices are taken down to an improbable figure. Our quotations for sides are 11@12c ₱ lb, hams 13@15c, shoulders 8@9c. Receipts are not very large so far this week.

LARD—There is a fair demand for good quality in tins and kegs, quotable at 14c ₱ lb in the former and 13c in kegs.

BEEF—The market is bare of choice lots, and short on all saleable qualities. We quote at 40c per lb for best roll, and 30@35c for common.

EGGS—The market is fluctuating at 17@18c per dozen to-day, with chances for a change up or down at any day.

CHICKENS—Good lots quotable at $4 50; choice $4 75@5 per dozen; common, $3 75@4 25.

HOGS—The killing season having closed, the only demand is for the home trade and is not brisk at 6½@6c ₱ lb.

BEEF CATTLE—There have been but few arrivals reported, and the demand for the past week or such, prices have advanced to 6@6½c ₱ lb net on foot; ordinary quotable at 5@5½c.

SHEEP—Dressed—There are very few lots offering, and choice are worth $1 25@2 75 ₱ head, and some at the extreme of $4.

HIDES AND FURS—A duller demand for shipping purposes prevails and receipts are light. We quote for choice dry 16½c ₱ lb; green salted, 7c; green, 6½c; culls, 10@12; calf, 22c ₱ lb; deer, 18@35c ₱ lb dried, and 50@75c apiece green; mink skins each, 75c@$1; otter, $2@3.

WOOL—Very few transactions are taking place; best grades quotable at 20@22c ₱ lb; common to fair lots, 16@18c.

General Merchandise.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS—Trade is quiet and prices for seasonable goods firm at current quotations. Mitchell Wagons, $126@145; Bain, 3-inch to 4-inch thimble skein, $110@130; Bain tip do, $120@150. Seasonable Goods are in full supply.

BAGS AND BAGGING—Burlap, standard, 1¾@2c; Flour, 42 lbs, 9½@10c; 1¾ lbs, 10@10½c, do 2 lbs, 11½c; 2¼ lbs, 14c; 2½ lbs, 14½c; 3 lbs, 15½c; Flax Seed, 21x36, 15c; Wool, 36x72 lbs, 45@50. Grain, Burlaps, 40 inch, 10, 10½, 11, 11¾ and 12 oz, 10@12c; Seaming Twine, 3 ply, flax, 30@35c; Roping, 3 ply flax and jute, 40@45; 4-4 Dutch, Carpeting and Matting, 25c; Table Baizes, 10-yard lengths, wood and bronze patterns, 36c per piece.

BOOTS AND SHOES—Stocks on hand embrace full assortment; trade lights, but all activity call for the favorite brands, like the Cordova kip and the genuine Webfoot boots; for Ladies', Misses' and Children's wear the Button Boots take the lead. We quote Webfoot 2-sole kip, $4@6; Webfoot, single ½ ds kip boots, $3@4; Mohawk Standing boots, $5 50@6 50; Calf Dress boots, ds & ts, 55@60; Boys' Kip Cordova boots, $30; Bovista split do, $27; Rubber do, $34@37; Knee, $16@18.
